This is a self graded assessment and should not say scoring in progress.

Conversation with Sriram:-

Just to understand the issue - is Ashwathy saying that she's unable to provide a score on the platform (meaning it's a bug)? Or is she saying that they don't provide scores for TOEFL MTs besides MT2?

they don't provide the score for speaking practice tests. they are supposed to be self graded by checking the sample response recording

From a tech standpoint - if they're unable to give a score on the platform or if the score is not getting reflected to the user, then it should be raised as a bug and we can see what's wrong. But if we're not providing the scores as part of our service offering, then there is a way to specify that when creating the assessment. We can specify whether a test is supposed to be graded or not and whether feedback will be given or not in the assessment meta - small change that can be done.

its not a bug...where it says scoring in progress it should just say self graded or compare your response with the sample response or something

Sorry - didn't realize that it's a practice test. This needs to be specified in the assessment meta - can be done pretty easily in my understanding. We should be able to do that.

Yes - this functionality is already implemented. It's a property that we need to set and this is already working in TOEFL marketing tests for example. It will say 'Self scored' with a tooltip explaining that scores will not be provided
